

Now is the time to Plant!

Nature's factory whistle is blowing. Can't you hear it? It is the morning song of the robin calling to you to start your garden. The earth is waking. The first green tints of growing things suggest messes of tender peas; bunches of spicy, baby radishes and onions, new beans, spinach, chard and tomatoes; fresh, crisp lettuce; little salmon-pink carrots and sweet, crimson beets and juicy corn, to say nothing of flowers in profusion. The work shop is waiting. The old garden patch is itching for the spading fork and hoe. At a nearby dealer's store, already feeling the urge to grow, are your packets of

INDIAN UPRISING IN FORMOSA.

One Tribe Said to Have Sacked the Fort at Yunka.

Buenos Aires, Friday, March 28.—A general Indian uprising in Formosa province is reported, and it is said that one tribe has sacked the fort at Yunka, killing the garrison of two non-commissioned officers and 15 soldiers. The Indians escaped, taking horses, munitions and supplies from the fort, according to report.

National troops are being hurried to the province, where many settlements are said to have been attacked by the outlaws.

The province of Formosa is in the northeastern part of Argentina and is bounded on three sides by the Paraguay, Pilcomayo and Bermejo rivers. Little is known of it except that it is a great forest-covered plain. It is sparsely settled, having a population of 5,589 in 1910.

WOMEN AS INVESTORS.

What Liberty Bonds and War Savings Stamps Have Done for Them.

Women had never been seriously considered as investors, until the war began and this country became involved. This was partly because they did not earn money as they have since the boys went overseas and to camps, but more for lack of opportunity to invest small savings. For instance, one woman invested her entire savings in two vacant lots some years ago. She has done nothing with them, except to pay taxes. Government securities would have been much better, for their returns are positive.

Until recently, such safe, sure and profitable investments as Liberty bonds and war savings stamps have not been possible, either to men or women. Women, however, have been quick to seize upon the promising possibilities of such income-bearing investments, and many a woman now buys thrift stamps instead of candy, flowers and the like.

"The prime necessity," according to a woman long a large earner, saver and investor. "Is that the thing he safe and sure, and this whether the investor be a young woman whose provision for the future need not be unduly hurried, or an older woman, open to the temptation of attempting 'get rich quick' methods. Here is my advice to women: 'For the small weekly or monthly savings, the thrift or war savings stamps, so easy to obtain; for the larger sum to be saved, the sterling Liberty bond'."

VERMONT WOMEN ATTENDED.

New England Liberty Loan Meeting in Boston This Week.

Boston, March 29.—Inspiring and convincing proof was given the county chairman of the Vermont Women's Liberty loan committee, at the New England Liberty loan meeting held at the Men's City club of Boston yesterday afternoon, that the Victory loan would be no more difficult to put through successfully than the four previous ones have been. Lewis B. Franklin, director of the war loan organization of Washington, D. C., was the chief speaker. Mrs. F. L. Higginson, chairman of the Women's Liberty loan committee of the first federal reserve district, spoke briefly. N. Penrose Hallowell, chairman of the New England committee, presided, and other speakers were James Dean, chairman of the committee on distribution; John K. Allen, chairman of the publicity committee, and Gov. Charles A. Morse of the federal reserve bank.

Resinol
surely did knock out that eczema

Three days ago, my arm was simply covered with red, itching eruption and I thought I was up against it for fair. But Joe had a jar of Resinol in his kit. I used a little and the itching stopped right off. In the morning most of the redness was gone and a few more applications finished it up. Resinol is also a valuable healing dressing for chafes, cuts, and sore places generally. Sold by all druggists.

ALLIED CANNON AGAIN ACTIVE

Against the Bolsheviki on the Archangel Front

EFFECTS OF GUNFIRE COULD NOT BE SEEN

Small Infantry Attack by the Bolsheviki Was Repulsed

Archangel, Friday, March 29 (By the Associated Press).—Allied artillery was active to-day in the vicinity of the village of Bolshoi Ozer, but the cloudy weather hindered the work of the aviators who were observing the effects of the cannonade. In the meantime, the allied forces holding the road on both sides of the town were engaged in strengthening their positions.

A small infantry attack was made on the allied positions on the Vega front on Wednesday. In spite of a bombardment which preceded the attack the bolsheviki were repulsed and lost heavily. The allies suffered only two casualties. Conditions elsewhere along the front are unchanged, according to a headquarters report.

INCREASE IN AGRICULTURE. Disabled Men Studying Specialized Lines Now Offered in Those Trades and Industries.

Washington, D. C., March 29.—The report of the first 1,215 cases of disabled soldiers approved for retraining by the federal board for vocational education shows that 245 selected an agricultural training in some of its various branches and specializations. These compare almost identically with the selection in commerce, industries, trades and professions, and indicate a growing interest on the part of disabled men.

While the number of those electing agricultural education and training have not approached the percentage of those electing agricultural education in other nations, it is predicted by an officer of the United States department of agriculture that there will be a very great increase within the next 30 to 60 days of those electing agriculture, the event of spring having a psychological effect upon the men.

The great advance in the invention and manufacture of agricultural machinery has placed agriculture as an industry on a par with all others; it is the leading industry and is represented to-day by 51 per cent compared to 49 per cent representing all other industries combined. The importance of agricultural machinery has placed farm mechanics among the most prominent features of agriculture, and at the same time gives an opening in a new profession of great importance to disabled soldiers who have had experience with the tank, the truck, the automobile and other lines of machinery. Such experience, coupled with vocational training in a short intensive course as offered by the federal board, will prepare the rehabilitated soldier to efficiently meet the demands created by modern development in farm machinery. The call for specialized, trained men is constantly increasing.

TO AID CHILDREN. Special Meeting of Social Workers Called to Effect Permanent Organization.

Burlington, March 29.—A special meeting of the Vermont Conference of Social Work will be held Wednesday, April 2, at 2:30 p. m. on the roof garden of the Hotel Vermont in this city. The purpose of the meeting is to effect the organization of a permanent Vermont Children's Aid society.

The call for the special meeting is a direct result of the report of Miss Sybil H. Pease, who made a survey of the cases of dependent children in Vermont due to the influenza epidemic. The Children's Aid society, if formed, will concern itself primarily with the problem of finding suitable homes for homeless and neglected children and of keeping families together that might otherwise be broken up.

The survey of conditions in the state since the epidemic revealed 60 widows with 167 children, 57 orphans, where the father had deserted the family before the death of the mother, and 22 widowers, with 58 children. In most of these homes, the circumstances are such that something must be done by outsiders and it is to look after these children in the most approved manner, in whatever way each particular case calls for, that the aid society is to be organized.

The High Cost of Cobbling.

Time was when it was good economy to take a pair of shoes to a cobbler and have them half-soled or beveled or patched, but not now. That happy day is gone. No longer is it possible to take a slightly decrepit pair of shoes into a leathery-smelling little shop and have something needful done to it for a quarter or a half dollar. The time has come when it is hard to find a shoe-fixing shop that will look at half a dollar. The standard of prices is far above that. A dollar and a half for a pair of half soles—nailed, not sewed—must be paid smilingly. There is no use in grudging. It is apparently the standard rate. At times the harassed wearer of shoes feels that there is no economy in repairs, and that as dear as they are it is better to buy new shoes outright than to pay for cobbling. Some day the scale may change. Just at present the real aristocrats are those who have their footgear habitually doctored.—Washington Star.
